

I'm 400,000 jobs waiting to happen.

Today, more than $10 billion in drinking water infrastructure projects are shovel ready and can be underway as soon as funds are committed. These projects would put more than 400,000 Americans to work on aging water mains, leaking pipes, treatment plants, pump stations, storage reservoirs, elevated tanks, security safeguards and other needs. This critical work would improve our economy, our environment, and our quality of life for years to come.

Create jobs today and invest in America's future.
Support drinking water infrastructure funding in economic recovery legislation.
