Revise the scope of the standard, with the addition of the following two sentences to Section 1.1

Scope:

This standard is meant to be used for water mains within public water systems and is not intended for premise plumbing systems in buildings. Premise plumbing components in buildings use a wide variety of materials, including some that may not be compatible with the chlorine concentrations in this standard.